President Addressing Federation of Labor Outlines Purposes of this Nation

HOUSE SENT TO EUROPE NOT ON A PEACE MISSION

Horses that Kick Over Traces Must be put in a Corral, Says Executive Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 12.—President Wilson made a personal and eloquent appeal here today for the full support of organized labor for the government in the conduct of the war. Speaking before the annual convention of the American federation of labor, he declared the war could not be won unless all factions unite in a common cause, sinking their differences.

The president paid warm tribute to Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, and virtually called on the federation to give him united support. He denounced pacifists and critics. He appealed for cooperation.

Discussing Germany, the president declared that Germany had started the war, and that he was willing to await the verdict of history on that statement.

New instrumentalities for better cooperation between labor and capital was one statement by the president which was of prime interest to the delegates to the convention.

The president alluded to the present war as "the last decisive issue between the old principles of power and the new principle of freedom."

"I believe," he said, "that the spirit of freedom can get into the hearts of Germans and find as fine a welcome there as it can find in any other heart. But the spirit of freedom does not suit the plans of Germanism. Power cannot be used with free people if it is used by free peoples."

"You know," he continued, "how many intimations come to us from one of the central powers that is more anxious for peace than the chief central power, and you know that it means that the people in that central power know that if the war ends as it stands they will, in effect, themselves be vassals of Germany, notwithstanding that their populations are compounded of all the people of that part of the world, and notwithstanding the fact that they do not wish in their pride and proper spirit of nationality to be dominated."

Referring in another part of his speech to Russia, the president said:

"Surprised at Russian Groups. 'May I not say it is amazing to me that any group of people should be so ill-informed as to suppose as some groups in Russia apparently suppose, that any reforms planned in the interest of the people can live in the presence of a Germany, powerful enough to undermine or overthrow them by intrigue or force, anybody of free men that compound with the German government, compounds for feeling of pacifists, but their stupidity. The pacifists do not know how to get peace, but I do.'

The president referred to the sending of the House to Europe as "having sent a greater lover of peace than any man in the world, but I did not send him to negotiate peace. I sent him to determine how the war is to be won."

Taking up the labor question in the United States, the president said: "If we are true friends of freedom, we will see that power and productivity of the country shall be kept at maximum. Let nobody shall be allowed to stand in the way. The government won't step from doing this, but the spirit of the American people will."

"We must stand together night and day until the war is over," said the president, adding that "while we are fighting for freedom, we must insure the freedom of labor."

"The horses that kick over the traces must be put in a corral."

President Wilson's war address to Congress is included in the report, with the declaration adopted by a meeting of union officials last March when it was seen to be inevitable that the European conflagration would spread to America. Under the heading "LABOR AND THE WAR," the report says:

Protest its People. "Under all circumstances it is the duty of any government to protect its people against willful and wholesale murder. A people unwilling to make the supreme sacrifice in support to the government which undertakes to make that principle good are undeserving to live and enjoy the privilege of free, democratic government."

The duty of wage-earners in the war is emphasized particularly in the section of the report devoted to "Peace Terms," which advocates an international agreement to secure peace and the settlement of the present war without "vindictive" indemnities.

STATE FAILS TO PROVE THAT HALL WAS BORROWER

Chief Clerk in Secretary of Federal Government to Force State's Office Denies That She Ever Made Loan

HIBBS HEARD HALL WAS IN TROUBLE; CASHED IN

Important Developments Promised for this Afternoon—Lyngstad Again on Stand

Little headway was made in the preliminary examination of Thomas Hall, secretary of state, charged with the embezzlement of automobile registration funds, this morning. Miss Ma el Amiot, who has served as stenographer and chief clerk to Mr. Hall for the last eight years, while he was secretary to the railway commission and later as secretary of state, testified that she had ever loaned Mr. Hall any money or that she had been asked to loan him money.

Dr. C. C. Hibbs testified he had learned through newspaper reports that Mr. Hall was in trouble; quoted C. H. Olson as saying in a conversation that "things looked tough and new things were turning up right along," and that he, Hibbs, suggested that it "was up to the fellows to take care of Hall" and that he offered Olson $50 for the secretary of state. Hibbs declared he offered financial assistance not because he believed Hall guilty but because he was certain that he was not guilty and that "there are plenty of other people in Bismarck willing to bet their life on Tom Hall."

Lyngstad Recalled. J. O. Lyngstad, deputy state treasurer, was recalled to the stand just before adjournment was taken at noon. The lateness of the train on which W. H. Stutsman, attorney to Mr. Hall, came over from Mandan resulted in little being accomplished this morning.

Mason Makes Prediction. It is reported that N. A. Mason, secretary to the governor, and who has charge of a Sunday school class in the Methodist Episcopal church, used the Hall case as a "horrible example" for the little boys who make up his class, yesterday, and advised them to watch developments at the capital during the next few days, as something equally as big and bad would break very soon. Capitol folk are wondering where lightning next will strike.

Declaring the effort of the state to place Eugene M. Walla, clerk in the automobile registration department, on the stand Saturday afternoon in the hearing of Secretary of State Thomas Hall, an invasion of the constitutional rights of his client, Judge E. T. Burke advised the court that he would resort to habeas corpus if necessary to prevent the state to carry out its intention of "obtaining indirectly what the attorney general admitted could not be obtained directly."

Police Magistrate Blackreid, after overruling Judge Burke's objection, gave him until Monday morning to present further arguments in support of his claims, or to prepare to remove his client from the witness stand through a writ of habeas corpus.

Charges Unfairness. "It would be manifestly unfair to put Mr. Walla on the stand now, a week ahead of the date on which he is to be heard on the same charge. He is under arrest charged with an offense similar to Mr. Hall's. The moment he goes on the stand he is placed on trial. He would be forced to disprove his defense a week ahead of the time set."

Assistant Attorney General Brennan said: "The state is trying to be fair and to play no favorites. Had Mr. Walla's hearing been set for the date we would have called Mr. Hall to the stand, and we intend to call Mr. Hall when Mr. Walla is heard. Objection may be made only by Mr. Walla himself in response to a question which he can show would tend to incriminate him. The state insists that Mr. Walla be called. We intend to get at the exact truth in this case, no matter whom it may hurt in the end."

Balances Carried Over. The state devoted its examination during the afternoon to lines by which it sought to offer further proof that currency was not deposited as were checks and drafts received by the registration department, but was allowed to accumulate until there was a daily balance on hand and carried over from month to month of $4,000 to $5,000. October 23, W. C. Edwards, deputy state examiner, testified, he found there should have been a balance on hand of $4,217.33 at the close of business October 22. On the 23rd he casually mentioned this fact to Mr. Walla, who stated that there should be a balance of about $4,000 and advised Edwards, according to the latter's testimony, to "just figure it's there for the present." Edwards did not then count the cash. October 24 he again put the matter up to Walla, and told him he would like to know the money was actually on hand.

EVERY BAKER IN NATION TO BE LICENSED

Prices of Bread Down to Perhaps Seven Cents

WEIGHTS OF LOAVES TO BE STANDARDIZED

Three Pounds of Sugar Only to a Barrel of Flour Are to be Allowed

Washington, Nov. 12.—All bakeries in every city of the land are to be put under government license beginning Dec. 10, and made subject to food administration rules governing ingredients and weights of loaves, according to President Wilson's proclamation planned for issuance today. Forecasts by the food administration will be to standardize bread, eliminate waste in distribution to consumers, and eventually to force prices for retail loaves downward, perhaps to 7c or 8c a loaf.

While prices are not to be fixed, fancy breads are to be eliminated, and all bread baked in the regular size of 1, 1½, 2½ and 4 lbs. with a midway crease to permit the sale of half a loaf. Fixed standard weights are to let consumers know which loaf is cheaper. Three pounds of sugar instead of six are to be allowed for a barrel of flour, and two pounds of vegetable oil instead of six pounds of lard or oil.

WAR Y DRIVE IS ON THROUGHOUT SIXTH DISTRICT

Committees Pile Into Task with Vim—Success of Campaign Thought Assured

'PROTECT YOUR BOY'

MESSAGE TO PARENTS

DRIVE STARTS.

In Bismarck, in the sixth judicial district, everywhere in North Dakota today enthusiastic committees early this morning launched their big drive which is to put over the top before the end of the week North Dakota's $125,000 quota of the national war Y fund of $50,000,000. In practically every county in North Dakota yesterday emphasis was placed on the movement and the importance of its success. Every county, city and village in the state is thoroughly organized, every district is under the direction of a district chairman, and over the whole organization is a state chairman and executive committee.

John A. Graham, cashier of the City National bank, is chairman for the sixth judicial district. At the head of the county committees in this territory are O. W. Roberts, for Burleigh; C. C. Coventry, for Emmets; G. G. Lehigh, for Kidder; J. Williams, for McLean; and F. M. Davis, for Sheridan.

The Bismarck executive committee consists of G. B. Allen, chairman; H. M. Steele and H. J. Duane, also from Team No. 1 for the city campaign. Other teams are: No. 2, W. S. Casselman, captain; C. G. E. Johnson and O. E. Anderson; No. 3, C. W. McGraw, captain; H. F. O'Hare and Joseph Breslow; No. 4, A. P. Lohr, captain; John A. Larson, A. B. Olson; No. 5, J. W. Bliss; H. L. Reade, J. O. Lyngstad.

This is written to every father, to every mother, to every brother, to every sister, to every uncle, to every aunt, to everybody who has a boy that he or she loves. Your boy is either at the front, or in the camps, or waiting to be sent to the camps—which means that some day he will be sent to the front; for Germany is a nation as strong as it is cruel, as powerful as it is merciless, and this was, which we must fight or become as Belgium has become, a nation of corpses and slaves, will take all our men, all our money, all our fortitude, to win. You loved your boy when he was at home, didn't you? You did for him all that love and care and kindness, and tenderness and devotion could do to keep him straight and clean, and happy. You loved him that he was yours. (Continued on page five)

GERMANS CUT OFF 10,000 ITALIANS, PROGRESS DOWN PIAVE AND ARE AT FELTRE; STREET FIGHTING REPORTED IN RUSSIA

STIFF RESISTANCE DOES HE LOOK LIKE A PEACEFUL MAN?

Anstro-German Forces Reported to be Slowing up in Drive on Venice

IN DESPERATE CHARGE SOME POSITIONS TAKEN

If Invaders Can be Held in North Defenders Can Check Advance Southward

GERMANS CONTINUE DRIVE. Berlin, Nov. 12.—The Austro-German troops in Northern Italy have cut off 10,000 retreating Italians in the Upper Piave salient, the war office announces. The Italians are said to have surrendered.

The German statement says the Teutonic forces have advanced from the Bulluno down the river Piave and are standing before Feltre.

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.

Italian resistance is stiffening along the Piave line, and in the Sugana valley, the Austro-German progress is slowing up. The invaders have not been able to cross the Piave from around Feltre to the Adriatic.

Violent fighting is in progress around Asiago. East of this place the Italians in a desperate charge recaptured positions, and in the Sugana valley, near the Austro-Italian border, they captured an enemy advance guard. The permanence of the Piave line depends mostly on the success or failure of the Austro-German blow in the Asiago region, military observers think.

If the invaders can be held in the north, the Treviso hills along the middle Piave will help the Italians in checking an advance across the river. Further Austro-German advances from the north might make the Piave line untenable, and Venice and Treviso probably would have to be given up.

In France, there has been little activity of moment. In Palestine, the British advance continues. More villages and prisoners have been lost by the Turks.

Downfall of Lenine and Maximalists Only a Question of Few Days Is Report

SUPPLIES IN CAPITAL ARE RUNNING VERY LOW

Korniloff and His Followers Setting Up Separate Government at Moscow

Petrograd, Nov. 12.—Street fighting is proceeding constantly. Junkers loyal to the Kerensky government regained possession of the telephone station this morning. The exact whereabouts of the Kerensky army which is reported to be approaching the city is unknown.

Fighting is in progress in the grand Nikolaia between Bolshevik infantrymen and Junker forces in armored cars.

Premier Kerensky at the head of 20,000 loyal troops is marching on Petrograd, where the Maximalists rapidly are losing power. In Moscow loyal troops have driven the Bolshevik revolutionists into the Kremlin.

General Korniloff, leader of the futile revolts of some weeks ago; General Kaldenleski former Hetman of the Don Cossacks; Michael Rodzianko, president of the Duma, and Prof. Milukoff, constitutional democrat leader, are reported to be forming a government in Moscow. Whether it is supporting Kerensky is not yet indicated.

The Bolsheviks and Kerensky forces have not yet engaged in extensive fighting. Loyal troops have occupied Tsarskoe Selo, fifteen miles south of Petrograd and Premier Kerensky and his troops are reported at Gatchina about 30 miles southwest of the capital. Food supplies of Petrograd are reported low, and the Cossacks there are backing the Maximalists in resisting the Bolsheviks.

Lenine Regime Writers. Apparently there has been no further defection to the Bolsheviks from the army and garrison, and Petrograd and Moscow appear to have been the only large cities affected by the uprising of the followers of Lenine. Loyalist troops control the chief wireless station. One report says that the overthrow of the revolt is "only a matter of days or hours."

The radical element in Finland has seized the opportunity to attempt to set up a separate government. Governor General Nekrasoff has been dismissed, and his place taken by a sailor and a state of war has been proclaimed. The Finnish Diet has voted to give supreme power in the Province to a state directorate.

SNELLING PLAY COMPARED WITH OLD CAMP DODGE

Real Work Confronts Student Officers at Great National Army Cantonment

EVERY MAN JACK STANDS UP BAD FOR THE BOCHES

Camp Dodge, Ia., Nov. 12.—"We were only playing at Fort Snelling—we're working, and working mighty hard, here."

That was the comment of a young lieutenant at this cantonment when asked to compare the training here with that received at the first officers' training camp at Fort Snelling, Minn.

"We are up and at 'em early every morning and we're digging right through until late in the afternoon," said "and as a result, we're rapidly developing real soldiers."

This statement, a member of an Iowa regiment, declared, the pace now set could not be continued indefinitely, but the strictly and work was being pushed in order to take advantage of the favorable weather conditions.

"It's easier to work in high sun, shade and snappy weather," he said, "than in the weather that is now necessary when it's raining and you're soaked to the skin."

"And in this driving sport, every man of them is standing up, and the result is easy to foresee. Trained soldiers, physically fit to come with any boche, and eager for the fray 'over there'."

That seems to be the attitude of the enlisted men, a desire that has developed and strengthened with their stay in camp. "We're not here to be idle," said a private put it, "to a desire to get a chance of scenery, and maybe in the big show."

"Officers are with their companies at 7:30 in the morning," the lieutenant explained, in sketching the program the officers from Fort Snelling face each "work day."

CHICAGO MAN NEW HEAD OF SHIPPING BOARD

Washington, Nov. 12.—A complete reorganization of the shipping board's emergency fleet corporation was begun today when Charles A. Piez, a Chicago engineer, formerly made vice president of the corporation, was put in supreme charge of the government's shipbuilding program.

Rear Admiral Washington L. Capps, appointed by President Wilson as general manager of the corporation succeeding Major General George B. Gordon, will continue in that position, but much of the work he has done heretofore will be taken over by Mr. Piez. Admiral Capps denied vigorously reports that he would resign because of the changes.

Wooden ship construction will be put in charge of James Hayworth, a Chicago contractor, who displaces Rear Admiral F. T. Lewis, retired. The building of hulled steel ships will be under the supervision of Charles Gray, a Philadelphia engineer.

The reorganization was explained at the offices of the shipping board was prompted by the feeling that the fleet corporation was not speeding up construction as much as it might. With designing about completed and contracts let, building, they felt, was a matter of business that best could be done by business men. Builders have complained repeatedly that they could not do business with some of the subordinates with whom Admiral Capps has surrounded himself.

One of the first things the reorganization will do will be to assure a sufficient supply of lumber for the 310 wooden ships now under construction. Southern pine producers have failed to deliver timbers in the quantities needed and the corporation will turn to Oregon fir, transporting it across the continent in special trains.

CHAOS OR WHAT?

Is mighty Russia dropping back into the chaos of small republics and petty principalities from which she sprang? Is the world's largest contiguous nation in danger of becoming again a group of minor states?

Although news from Russia today is censored and colored by many hands before it reaches us, there are many, familiar with Russia's origin, who believe they see in the near future a descent into the squabbling maelstrom from which the house of Rurik and later the Romanoffs built the world's first real "United States." Finland, with autonomy, is today practically a self-governing republic. Poland has been promised freedom, to be by the departed Romanoffs and the departing duma.

Krania and Lithuania, each cohesive within itself and but loosely tied to the great whole, are visioned as two other units shortly to be spilled out into the world to stand alone.

With such a disintegration of Russia as any continued laxity of the central ruling power makes probable, Asiatic Russia, including Siberia, embracing three-fourths of the empire, but containing only one-sixth of the people, would also largely go by the boards.

Northern Caucasia was conquered from the Georgians and the Persians, and a separate Georgia and Turkestan would be a natural cleavage. Also the two main divisions of Cossacks, closely allied with the Tartar race, would hardly remain part of a nation which, even under the strictest monarchical rule, they have never been actually digested.

And in a break-up of the empire such semi-Asiatic provinces as Astrakhan and Kazan, as well as practically the whole of Caucasia, might well drift from the central government.

An eight-year immersion in blood and anarchy was a requisite to the baptism of the Russia the world knows today, by the elevation to the throne in 1913 of the first of the Romanoffs, Michael Fedorovich. Will the discarding of the Romanoffs bring a similar period of death throes as trying as the birth throes?

The history of Russia before the accession of the Romanoffs is a jumble of tribal feuds. For of the larger nations in the war, Russia is the youngest, with the exception of the United States.

Prior to the Russia of the Romanoffs, there was the nucleus of Russia, founded by the Scandinavian Rurik in 862, called in when the traders of Novgorod wearied of the warfare of the old Slavic tribes. Over the republic of Novgorod, nursed along under the Rurik dynasty, the conquering Mongol invaders under Genghis Khan built up the empire of Muscovy and set Russia on a new course.

The victory of the separate units of Russia rather than of the nation as a whole is shown by the fact that the first part of the Mongol dominion was made up of the Lithuanians, who, having thrown off the German yoke, had settled in the western provinces of Russia. It was in the fourteenth century that the Great freed Russia from Asiatic domination, but the period of strife was not ended until the Romanov line was established over a century and a half later.

It was Peter the Great who, at the close of the seventeenth century, completed the first hundred years of Romanov rule by cementing Russia together on Western European lines. From the time of his establishment of the capital that bears his name the Russia of today was assured—a power among the powers of western Europe.

From time to time it reached out and made grabs of adjoining land, such as the seizure of Finland and Persia only a hundred years ago and of northern Caucasia even more recently. Such squares as these on the gigantic checkerboard of tribal and racial lines, are all the more likely to tint their part of the map in new national colors because of the short lapse of time since they were swallowed by the empire. Caucasia, for example, was not fully pacified until the sixties of the last century. In size as well as in government the old republic of Novgorod, of a thousand years ago, may yet serve as a model for the new Russia.

SAFE AND SANE THANKSGIVING.

And maybe war will give us a safe and sane Thanksgiving. There has been much extraordinary stuffing of ourselves mixed up with our thanking of God, on Thanksgiving day. We will have, on the coming national day, more than ever to be genuinely thankful to God for, and more than ever will it be sinful and senseless to stuff ourselves. If we continue our usual gastronomic policy, we are likely to waste more in one day than all the campaigning for food conservation can save in a week.

President Wilson, in his proclamation, appeals for unity of spirit and purpose of service to the world. The world as a whole is going to be almost mighty hungry on Thanksgiving day, with frightful shortage of food in very many parts. There is no better way of arriving at such unity and performing such service to hungry humanity than by neglecting our usual Thanks giving gorging.

Thank God and treat your stomach as if it were a same part of you, on Thanksgiving day!

"IDYLIC BELGIUM."

Djemel Pasha, one of the highest Turkish officials, has just completed a tour of Germany and of the country on the west that the Germans have conquered. Speaking of Belgium, he said: "Life in Belgium today is idyllic. People in the towns go for walks all day long, while in the country happy peasants are gathering in the harvest with the help of contented prisoners. The fairy tale of the ill-treatment of Belgium is really too grotesque."

Of course, the precious Turk did not explain that the reason the Belgian city dwellers walked all day long was that they had nothing else to do—all factories being looted by the Germans, all stores being practically put out of business. He also did not explain that the "happy peasants" were gathering in harvests which the Prussian masters would seize for the benefit of the Prussian armies.

But naturally life in Belgium would seem "idyllic" to this Mohammedan governor of Syria. In Belgium the people are only starved and maltreated of all their money. In Belgium the women are only outraged and the men deported into virtual slavery. Compared with what Djemel and his pals did in Syria and in Palestine and in Armenia this is very tame.

The good Mohammedan allies of the kaiser butchered Armenian and Syrian Christians by the thousands, sent other thousands to perish miserably in the desert, and turned thousands of girls over to Turkish harems. The kaiser still has a few things to learn in the way of "serecklichkeit."

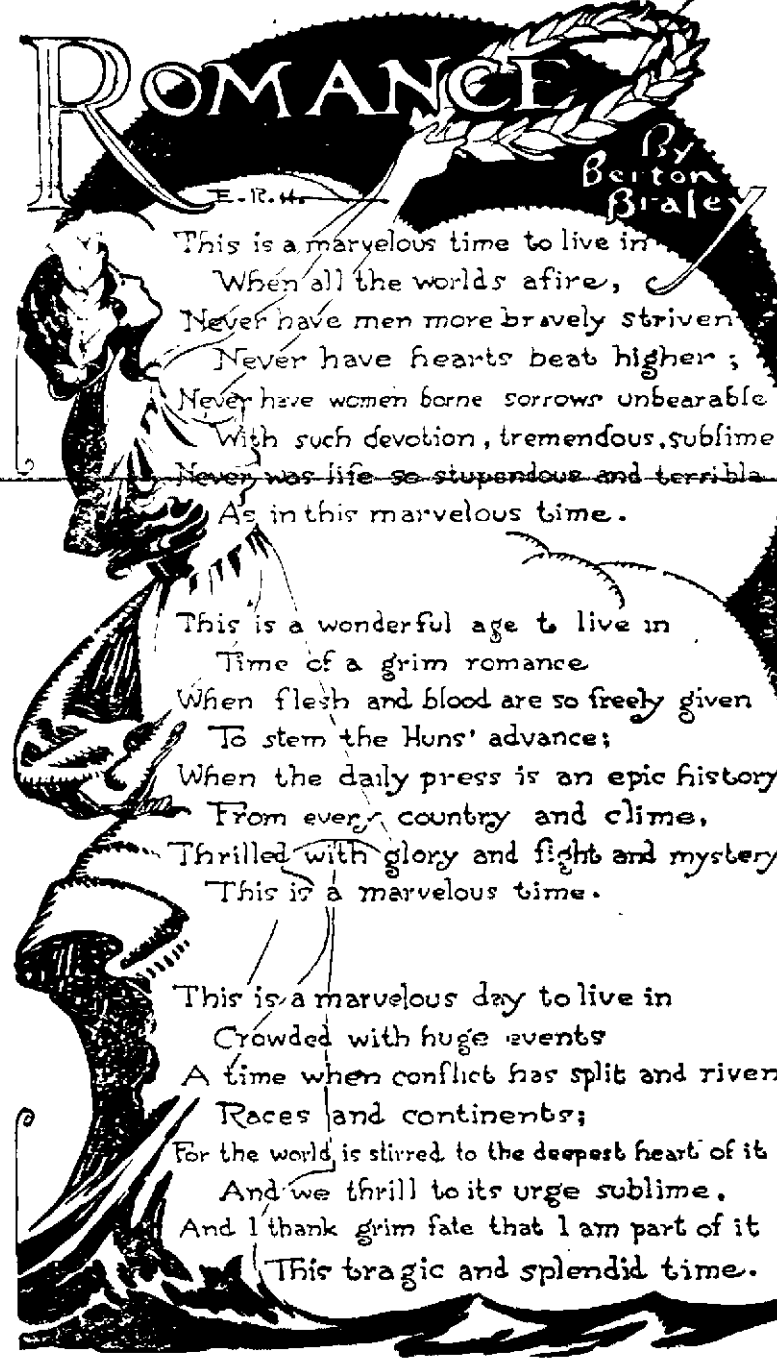

There has been conservation about meatless, wheatless, sweetless, heatless, treatless and eatless days. Now comes Uncle Sam with the best of all—Herbert Hoover's cheatless days.

Since Sherman's time Atlantans have known that war is hell. And now Billy Sunday is in Atlanta to define hell for them.

The unusually early and heavy fall of snow in so many places convinces us that Santa Claus plans to do his reindoeing early.

Denmark refuses to intern German sailors. In a way you can't blame Denmark for being discriminating.

Bullets and bread will win this war—the bullets we shoot and the bread we save.

This is a marvelous time to live in
When all the worlds are afire,
Never have men more bravely striven
Never have hearts beat higher;
Never have women borne sorrows unbearable
With such devotion, tremendous, sublime,
Never was life so stupendous and terrible
As in this marvelous time.

This is a wonderful age to live in
Time of a grim romance
When flesh and blood are so freely given
To stem the Huns' advance;
When the daily press is an epic history
From every country and clime,
Thrilled with glory and fight and mystery
This is a marvelous time.

This is a marvelous day to live in Crowded with huge events
A time when conflict has split and riven
Races and continents;
For the world is stirred to the deepest heart of it
And we thrill to its urge sublime,
And I thank grim fate that I am part of it
This tragic and splendid time.

Saturday Evening Letter

By Justice J. E. Robinson

This week all our judges have been at work and I think they are well disposed to try to make up for lost time. We have now in the vault of the clerk some eighty appeals which have not been argued and forty appeals which have not been submitted and ready for conferences. If we clean up all the forty cases this month we may dispose of most of the rest during December, but it seems there is little chance of cleaning the slate during the present year. Since July our court progress has been very slow. We have not shown 100 per cent efficiency, and yet no judge will admit that he is not 100 per cent efficient. Our time record is not good. We spend too much time in hearing mere talk and in conferences on small matters—in deciding cases and reconsidering them to please offended counsel and in doing the same work over and over. Indeed, we deliberately pursue a method which doubles our work. It is a case of too many cooks spoiling the broth. Were I the sole judge of the supreme court I would dispose of every case within ten days after the argument. Were I the Chief Justice I would be at my post of duty in the Capitol during the business hours of every day from 9 a. m. till 5 p. m., and if any judge failed to do the same and to keep up with his work I would know the reason why. To write an opinion I should assign to each judge only one case at a time and as he finished one task I should assign to him another. Under our system one judge may have a dozen cases to write up while another has nothing to do. A judge may play "dog in the manger" and hold up with his own writing decisions himself not permitting others to do it.

One cause of delay is the hearing of long arguments on kindred matters. Our chief justice in his kindness is never disposed to shut off needless talk. He does not want to offend the lawyers. He says: "Let them talk." They have a constitutional right to talk.

Another cause of delay is the writing of lumbering opinions. What decisions after the manner of ex-parte decisions. That is a waste of time and it imposes a grievous burden on those who have to transcribe and twice rework the decisions. Surely there should be some rule of law to limit the length of any decision or to charge the writer of it. If a judge wants to spread himself and to write a book or a lumbering opinion, he should not do it at the expense of suitors and taxpayers. Then he would learn to count the cost. The writing and holding of opinions, lumbering decisions has become a curse to the law and a curse to this generation. It is a great public nuisance and it is troubling the people with burdens which are grievous to be borne. We must assure the nuisance not only in this state but in every other state between the two great oceans. However, it is hard to break away from the evil custom. I write and write against it and the American Bar associations protest it with no avail. Even now our Justice Grace has written a church decision covering eighteen pages. Here you may see it written on page and any child who reads it mutters under his breath: "What a waste of time!"

My last letter contains some hints on grammar and composition. The subject is a pleasing one and in time we may write a book on "Grammar Made Easy." A thought is well expressed when it cannot be expressed in a better manner. A sentence is well composed only when you can not better it by replacing or changing any word or phrase. When a judge writes a decision it should run from the beginning to the end like a clear lucid stream with a pebbly bottom so a person may see through it at a glance. The decision should commence with a statement of the case so lucid that any person may read and understand it. Then it should give a concise statement of the facts and the law of the case so as to appeal to the understanding with the utmost simplicity and clearness.

THE ASHLEY CHURCH CASE.

Robinson, J. This is an appeal from an order overruling a demurrer to the complaint in a church case. The complaint avers that in Ashley, North Dakota, there are two Lutheran churches. The first was organized in 1908 and the second in 1913; the four plaintiffs and the thirteen defendants were all members of the first church. The first church was organized with the Missouri Synod and adopted its confession of faith and church policy; it acquired a tract of land and erected thereon a church building worth $1,200 to which the plaintiffs contributed; in June 1913, defendants being a majority resolved to sever connections with the Missouri Synod, and to affiliate with the Iowa Synod; they formed themselves into a second Lutheran church and conveyed to it the said church property for a nominal consideration and they are now using the church property for the purposes of promoting religious worship according to the Iowa Synod contrary to the protest of the plaintiffs and they prevent the plaintiffs from using the church property for worship according to the Missouri Synod. That the Iowa Synod is not an orthodox Lutheran Synod.

The plaintiffs demand judgment that the defendants have no interest in the church property and that they be restrained from using it in accordance with the Iowa Synod and be adjudged to be secessionists. The complaint is based on the theory that a minority of the church members have a right to control the majority, and to impede the march of time and progress; but that is not law. By uniting with a church a person acquires no title to any church property and no right to control or determine the policy of the church as he may do so by acting with or influencing the majority.

Any three persons may form a religious corporation by filing with the secretary of state articles of incorporation, stating the name of the corporation, its location, duration, the number and names and residence of its directors; and that it is formed for religious purposes. The articles of incorporation may not adopt or include any religious creed, that is a matter of detail which may be included in the by-laws and the by-laws may be changed from time to time by a vote of the members. The property and policy of a religious corporation is under the control of the majority and not the minority of its members. The by-laws may provide for:

1. The qualification of members;
2. The fees of admission and dues to be paid;
3. The expulsion and suspension of members, and all members have equal rights and privileges.

Were it competent for the persons named as plaintiffs to maintain this action against the majority of the church members it would give the minority control of the church affairs. It would lead to a manifest absurdity. The demurrer must be sustained and the action dismissed. Nov. 8, 1917.

IF THE NEW WAR TAXES AND THE FOOD-SAVING CAMPAIGN PEEVE YOU, LET LYON TELL YOU WHAT IT'S LIKE IN FRANCE

Special Letter from C. C. LYON, Daily Tribune Reporter with General Pershing's Army. (Passed as Censored by Major Frederick Palmer.)

Paris, France.—Said an army officer just arrived in France from America: "It seems almost impossible to arouse our people to a realization that they are in a great war. We'll have to have casualty lists first."

The French people don't need casualty lists to remind them. Every hour of the day war is impressed on them—wherever they eat, sleep, talk, travel or seek amusement.

And what goes for the French also goes for the thousands of Americans now in France.

You arrive at a hotel and, naturally, the clerk tries to induce you to take a room with a bath, if he has any such luxury to offer.

Pretty soon you come down to the office, storming.

"There's no hot water in that bath," you complain.

He shrugs his shoulders and smiles. You want to choke him.

"C'est la guerre," he says. "It is the war. We are permitted to have hot water only on Saturday and Sunday. We must be economical with our coal, you know."

"C'est la guerre," he says. "It is the war"—is almost a national motto over here. No matter what the trouble is, blame it on the war.

You go into the dining room with a ravenous appetite, figuring on a nice, juicy steak with French fries, potatoes, etc. (You know the kind war correspondents eat who have liberal expense accounts.)

But there is no meat.

It is no reflection on Bismarck to say that The Tribune is ahead of its field. It is leading, not trailing, and the new owners show every disposition to set new and higher standards.

LAST RITES FOR

FLASHER EDITOR

HELD HERE TODAY

Last rites over the remains of the late J. K. McLeod, publisher of the Flasher Hustler, were held in Bismarck this afternoon. The body arrived in the capital city yesterday from Shakopee, Minn., where death occurred Friday. Mrs. McLeod accompanied the remains here, she having been in the Minnesota city with her husband when the end came.

Scores of friends from Flasher, Mandan and other slope points arrived in the city at noon for the funeral.

How They Do It. You have doubtless been thrilled by a jungle scene in the movies where a lion closely pursues the feeblest hero. It is a real lion, too, and anybody can see that they are really running. It is all done by means of a treadmill upon which the lion is safely chained, though with his hands are not conspicuous. He is induced to run, the heroine mimics time with all her might, and painted background of tropical scenery is moved past them at high speed on rollers.

Making a House a Home.

In planning a home it is essential to building satisfaction that the prospective house owner decides whether he wants to dwell in his own or some other person's home; that he decide just the sort of home he wishes to erect and follow those plans, also that he build his house on honest lines that conform to the principles of good architecture.

Natural Heating Plant.

During severe winter weather range cattle in the Bad Lands of western North Dakota are seen now and then congregated about a great fissure in a red, naked hillside. Investigation shows that a warm current of air rising through the fissure from a burning coal bed underneath has attracted them.

Big Market for Peanuts.

Marcelles, France, is the great export market for peanuts, more than 120,000 metric tons of peanuts in the shell and 240,000 tons of shelled nuts being crushed there in a single year.

The waiter is grieved to hear you've forgotten it is Monday. "It is prohibited to eat meat on Mondays and Tuesdays, monsieur," he says.

You soon find that Tuesday is the black day for eating.

On Tuesdays you can neither eat meat nor pastry. Pastry is almost sold out on Wednesdays.

About 40 per cent of the people in Paris eat their meals in restaurants, and these restrictions on meat and savings of food supplies.

If your room at the hotel is dark, you try to turn on the electric lights soon after supper. But there's no light.

The very minute each evening when "the lights come on" is fixed by law. Conservation of coal again.

If you burn kerosene in lamps or gas in your cook stove your consumption is limited to 65 per cent of what it was before the war.

Only the rich can afford to run autos any more, because gasoline in France now retails at $1.29 a gallon. It makes one smile to recall the storms of protest in America about a year ago when the price of the juice got up to about 25 cents a gallon.

You go to the theater, and after the performance you wonder why everybody rushes away pell mell for the subway entrances.

You follow leisurely, only to discover, when you arrive at the subway, that "the last car is gone." And there are no "owl" cars for late stayers.

On account of the war, service is prohibited after 11 o'clock," say the signs.

If you've missed the last car, the chances are you'll either walk home or stay in a downtown hotel, for taxis in Paris after 10 o'clock are few and far between.

The government allows a taxi driver only so much gasoline every day, so he can run his car only so far, and he's usually run down by dinner time on the evening.

You decide to call a friend over the long distance in another city. "Come to the office and identify yourself," you are told by the operator, and you have to go many blocks to a telephone substation, and then you are told you cannot talk if your party lives more than 65 miles away.

Restrictions also govern the sending of telegrams. Always your identification papers must be produced, and then dispatches can only be sent in French for France, in Italian for Italy, in English for England and the United States. For all neutral countries, French only.

All shops must be closed at 6:30 in the evening, the idea being to economize light.

You can't buy a gun or a pistol under any circumstances during the period of war.

Every line in every newspaper has been censored by the government before publication, and the big black squares that so often appear are sure signs that something was cut out that might have given "information or comfort" to the enemy.

And as to photography—you almost take your life in your hands to appear in public with a camera.

"C'est la guerre," the policeman apologizes who nabs you and tells you to get rid of your picture-taker.

Otherwise, France is a very fine country.

Newest New Russia May Not Require Service of American Railway Board

Mandan, Nov. 12.—The bell that tolled the expulsion of Alexander Kerensky as premier of the Russian government today echoes in Mandan.

Local railroad men who were to have gone to Russia to fill important railroad positions have been instructed to wait until further notice.

During the past few weeks activities of the Russian war mission in railroad circles has been very much heralded here as it effected prominent railroad men who were seen almost daily in Mandan. Supt. T. H. Lantry, one of the first to urge war work on the Northern Pacific railway, was for years supplying the Mandan division with coal.

Don Colby, who for years as a conductor on the Dakota division ran into Mandan from Jamestown; Bob Higgins of Glendive formerly of this city; L. A. Paxton a former foreman in the Northern Pacific shops, and others in the war railroad mission to Russia, have been passing through Mandan daily to start from their headquarters in St. Paul.

Now they may not go at all with the conditions prevailing in Russia. Advances are received here today to the effect that they will be very much delayed.

Supt. Lantry, commissioned with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel, passed through Mandan today en route west on an important mission. He declined to give out any information concerning future plans.

hat demands liberal application both of the body and mind.

Noon mess gives a let up from 12 o'clock, and from then until retreat at 5 o'clock, there's physical exercise, drill, singing and verbal messages, manual of arms and some signal work.

After retreat comes mess, and from 6 to 7 there are company matters; 7 to 8, French classes for most of us; 8 to 9, officers' school—and by that time we are glad to "hit our bed" to prepare ourselves for the next day of strenuous work.

Most of the national army men, though not selected as carefully as the candidates at Fort Snelling, are standing up in the physician line with the officers, the Lieutenant said.

With not unnatural pride, the Lieutenant referred to the Three Hundred Fiftyth infantry regiment, the purely Iowa unit to which he belongs, as one that promised to develop into "one of the best regiments in the army."

He gave several reasons for this conclusion, not the least of which was the praise the regiment has elicited from its commanding colonel and higher officers.

Products of Genius. There is not a bit of routine, however cheap our unthinking mind may count it, that was not started by genius. The fundamental faculties of life, the things we use as carelessly as we tread the pavement—the very fire we light, the tools we handle at our work, the food we eat—each represents some early triumph of man's spirit.—Exchange.

Red Cross Division Nurse Makes Appeal For More Government Workers

Need of more Red Cross nurses throughout the division is imperative, declares Miss Edith Barber, director of the nursing bureau of the northern division. If a general call for Red Cross nurses should be issued throughout the division less than 400 could respond, Miss Barber says. If a second call should follow, and the continuation of the war for another year would make the second call probable, there would be none to respond. Miss Barber became director of the nursing department for the Red Cross on Nov. 1. It is her duty to recruit the number of nurses in the division, so that the disgrace of a failure to respond to a national call may be averted. Her task is even more difficult than that of any army recruiting officer. Men in all walks of life can be made into soldiers in a few months. It takes years of training to develop a Red Cross nurse. However, there are hundreds of nurses in the division who could be made Red Cross nurses upon enrollment. Miss Barber will concentrate her efforts in obtaining recruits from these nurses. Young women, without previous training, she urges to enter the training service so that they may be fitted to respond to a later call from the government. Other women, who are beyond the age limits set for Red Cross nurses or who are married and therefore cannot actively join the Red Cross corps, Miss Barber urges to take training in home nursing, that they may fill the places of private nurses who are eligible for Red Cross work.

MANTLE IS NEWEST FUR COAT

By BETTY BROWN. New York—How to make a cape that is a coat seems to have been the goal this designer set for himself, and attained so successfully in the fur mantle shown here. The garment is a cape in reality, but it is so shaped that it seems to fall into broad sleeves, and the heavy collar of long fur, with the fur sash, completes the coat illusion. In the mantle we discover the possibilities of adorning fur. The combination of two furs, such as seal and skunk, as in this model, is one way to attain this effect, and the application of heavy braid and chenille ornaments is another.

This morning work in the Y M C A drive was started under the chairmanship of William Ordway in the city of Mandan. He has sixteen assistants representative of the various vocations and a stringent campaign is on to raise an early allotment sum of $3,750 for the Y M C A work for the soldiers who dare. The soldiers of the campaign are being exchanged rapidly and often many from the same source. crowning one of all his creative deeds, presented man in the perfect image of God, and God himself pronounced it very good. "It is only by sin and evil that the divine image has been so distorted and broken that it is difficult for the angels of God to see underneath the overlappings of sin the outlines of the features of the Holy One. So easy is it to mar the divinest work in the body of clay, stamped in God's love, did carvings have been rudely destroyed by some vandal hammer. It takes but a moment to destroy the beauty and grace that long years of toil evolved. The race comes to perfection after many months of toil and travail as the bush curls from the cold earth, from rain and sunshine, from dew and warmth the elements that bring forth the perfect flower, and a life and wondrous child crushes its presence beauty in a moment. The image of God, stamped in God's love in the heart of man has been trampled and destroyed by our wanton selfishness and evil desires. But the outline is there still, and by loving care and with God's help we can restore his beauty. We are not left to ourselves in the work. The perfect nature of the Christ is ours. His humility, His grace, His unselfish love shine before our eyes, and His Holy Spirit is given in bounteous measure to inspire our soul and guide our hand in the work. Whose image and superscription is stamped on our souls? Caesar's? God forbid. With all our knowledge of what Caesar means it cannot be that we choose that. Christ's image in the heart. Christ's life of unselfish love lived day by day. The will the angels of God see His image in our soul."

STATE FAILS TO PROVE HALL WAS BORROWER

Walla took an envelope out of his pocket and showed Edwards a number of personal checks aggregating about $100 and stated, according to Edwards, "He was pounding Hall on the back to make him kick in."

Attorney Smithman, for Hall, objected to this repetition of Walla's alleged remark, and the court sustained the objection.

At that time, said Edwards, two deposits had been made aggregating $729.80. A portion of this sum, Edwards stated, later was found to represent 1915 business. October 25, said the witness, he went to Hall and showed him a statement which indicated the department should have $3,477.55.

Miss Margaret Wynkoop testified that she attended to listing of checks and drafts and the making of deposits, but that no currency had been brought to her to deposit until October 30. She never saw currency listed or heard of its being deposited.

Frank Garbier, a Norton township farmer, who said he had voted three or four times for Mr. Hall, told of a conversation with Walla which he had with the secretary of state and Mr. Walla during the past summer. C. H. Olson, secretary of the Automobile Mutual Insurance Co. identified a check for $71.44 which he had given Hall in payment for a life insurance policy and which had been deposited with the state treasurer to the credit of the automobile registration fund. Mary Parsons, of the secretary of state's office, told of having listed checks and drafts for deposit while employed in the automobile registration department last summer but said she did not know what became of the currency, if any came into the office. Miss Edna MacDonald testified briefly.

M. Donald A. Tartar. Alex MacDonald of Glencoe proved a tartar for the state. He denied any knowledge of recent efforts on the part of Hall to borrow money or negotiate a note, and declared Hall never had attempted to borrow any money from him. He was promptly dismissed. T. W. Streeter, cashier of the Farmers' State bank of Baldwin, told of an alleged effort of Mr. Walla on Sunday evening, October 28, to negotiate a loan, and of cashing through their Bismarck correspondent a check for $500 drawn to the favor of E. M. Walla by the Hanson-Holby Co. of Baldwin. He testified that he on hand. Hall looked it over, said he knew nothing about it, that he depended on the head of the department, and that Mr. Walla, who was away hunting, had the keys to the cash box.

Edwards asked if Hall had not urged Edwards, too, to go hunting. Edwards replied that he could not say that Mr. Hall had urged him.

Safe Sealed. Edwards, Brennan and Thorberg, deputy state examiner, went to the secretary of state's office at noon Monday in the absence of Hall and Walla and sealed the safe. That evening they returned, while Hall and Walla were in the office. "We went to the safe and noticed that two seals were not on the safe," said Edwards. "The third one, which had been placed on the combination, was still on but barely attached. We asked Walla to open it. He did so. Our intention was to count the money on hand in the safe. After the safe was opened, Walla went to a cash drawer on his desk, took out a number of envelopes with stamps, checks and currency in them, and placed the currency from the safe on top of it. Brennan asked Walla where the currency had come from, and Walla said from his desk. The total when counted still showed a shortage of $175.63, which Walla explained was accounted for by Carlson, a clerk in the department, having about that much, representing receipts from October 23 to October 25, on his person."

A. W. Carlson, placed on the stand later, testified he did not carry any of the receipts of the office away with him.

Edwards continuing told of checking over deposits in the state treasurer's office and finding a considerable sum in unidentified checks which he later discovered represented 1915 business. Hall later denied knowledge of 1915 applications, which were finally discovered by Thorberg of the state examiner's office. The safe in the secretary of state's office again was sealed upon Edwards' discovery that $200 worth of 1915 business had come in, and upon reopening the safe, Edwards alleged, the amount which should have accompanied these applications was not to be found. There were found applications covering $108 of current business, but no money was attached. The safe in Hall's private office, which also had been sealed, was opened and found to contain three silver dollars.

Considerable time was devoted to an effort to prove that the secretary of state's monthly reports did not account for cash carried on hand. Smithman, for the defense, contended the question arose largely over a difference in methods of bookkeeping.

Endorse Checks. A. W. Carlson and Harold Wright, employees of the office, told of endorsing checks drawn in their favor by Mr. Hall, at the request of Mr. Walla. Both admitted that the secretary of state owed them nothing and that there was no particular reason why he should draw checks in their favor, and that they had received no proceeds from these checks. Carlson said he handled the cash October 29 and put it all in the safe; that he did not have in his possession the $175 which Walla was alleged to have credited him with.

Martin Thompson, another employee, told of endorsing two checks drawn by Hall in his favor. The secretary of state, he said, owed him no money, and he drew nothing from the checks, one for $125 and the other for $27.55, which he endorsed and returned to Hall.

No Currency Listed. Miss Margaret Wynkoop testified that she attended to listing of checks and drafts and the making of deposits, but that no currency had been brought to her to deposit until October 30. She never saw currency listed or heard of its being deposited.

Frank Garbier, a Norton township farmer, who said he had voted three or four times for Mr. Hall, told of a conversation with Walla which he had with the secretary of state and Mr. Walla during the past summer. M. Walla by the Hanson-Holby Co. of Baldwin. He testified that he also saw Mr. Hall in Baldwin the evening of October 28, but that Mr. Hall did not appear in connection with the loan or with any other financial matters.

Walla Obtained Loan. E. M. Thompson, cashier of the Bismarck bank, testified that Walla had obtained a loan October 29 on a personal note for $1,200 which was to be signed by Thomas Hall and Alex MacDonald, and that Hall's signature was obtained October 30. Walla, he stated, obtained the money in bills the afternoon of October 29. MacDonald, he stated, had not signed the note.

TWO BIG POINTS ARE OVERLOOKED

Negligence in Studying Rules by Players and Officials.

COACH CAN TEACH SO MUCH

Knowledge of Rules Would Have Made Last Year's Yale-Princeton Game Much Closer Struggle—Errors of Officials

Two vital points are often overlooked in the preparation of a football squad for its big games which not only may prove responsible for the winning or losing of these games, but which also causes the player to lose much of the after benefit to be derived from his participation in football while in school or college.

The two vital points are negligence in studying the rules of the sport, with its accompanying code, and the failure of the coach to impress upon the players the fact that he can only teach them so much football, that their status as players is only to be above the average when they think beyond the coaching and thus reach a state of proficiency in play as well as confidence in themselves and their abilities which, after all are the main factors in the best work of any player.

When a player does not know the rules he is no more likely to help win games than the lawyer trying a case who has avoided studying the law governing the case, writes Sol Metzger, in Pittsburgh Dispatch. Last year the Yale-Princeton game should have been a much closer struggle than it was. Both teams were about equal in playing ability but the Princeton eleven, if it did know the rules, gave away any chance it had for the game when it failed to catch one of Yale's kickoffs. Both teams have equal rights to the ball on a kickoff and all football men at the game were amazed to behold a Princeton eleven in its last game watch the Yale eleven kickoff and then come down the field and recover the ball near the Princeton goal line.

An Official's "Boner." For some unknown reason this rule, which makes a team onside on a kickoff or kick from a fair catch, is often neglected by coaches and players. Even officials are not always clear on this point. Witness several years ago when West Virginia was playing Geneva. Twice the West Virginia team kicked off to Geneva recovering the ball back of the Geneva goal line for a touchdown. In each case the referee called it a touchback, and a touchback it remained. Needless to say such an official was never used again, for one so ignorant of one of the primary rules of the game is not going to be used by teams which want a square deal all the way through.

A similar ignorance of the rules on the part of Indiana against Purdue in 1912 gave the latter a one-sided victory. Purdue made several fair catches during the play and once pulled from a fair catch formation to the side of the field. The Indiana team did not know the Purdue players were onside on this play and were much upset because the officials called it a touchdown when a Purdue player caught the punt and ran over the line for a touchdown.

WAR Y DRIVE IS ON IN SIXTH DISTRICT

He loved you for the love you gave him. Now he is gone, or is going away. It is right that he should go. He goes to defend you whom he loves against those that would rape and rob and kill; that would make this land of ours a shambles and a shame; that would make the words "life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness" a bloody sneer against the vast background of time. And now as he goes, you must say to him, "God bless you and bring you safely back to us!" You kiss. Your hand fingers in his—lingers, quivering—and then withdraws. And he has gone. He has left you. For a time he has gone from your life and you from his. Temptations Many.

He will be exposed to many temptations—even as would you at his age. Many men and women will try in many ways to tempt him to do the things that he should not. Life is life; and to be human and young, is to be all that the words human, and young mean.

But there is one way in which you can still be with him—by which the hand of yours that aided his baby footsteps—that helped him in his little lessons of primer and of arithmetic—that guided him past childish dangers—can still reach out to help him.

Better than we, the Young Men's Christian Association realizes the power of evil associates, of rotten environment, of sudden dangers that abound to pitfall the road of those that are human and young. These men want to give your boy the things that you, who love him, can no longer give him. They want to give him the loving care that you can no longer give him. They want to give him clean places to live in, clean books to read, clean games to amuse, clean music to hear and sing, clean drinks to drink, clean associations with which to associate. They want to send him back to you as honest, as fearless, as gentle, as clean as when he left you.

Want It For Your Boy. To give him this, this care, will take money. These people that would do it, do not want your money only that it may be spent in caring for your boy. They can now do what you no longer can. Will you help them to do this thing? Or will you, now that your boy has gone far away, turn your back and leave him to be stained, and coarsened and corrupted in the hands of those who would exploit him in sin for profit, and in corruption for a price?

Evil women, rotten men, and the counterfeit joys that dwell in the glittering hell holes where rum distorts the brain and stimulates the body, be set the path of every young male human being in the world.

Protect your boy from these things now. Or else don't blame him too harshly if a different boy comes back to you from the boy who went away.

MINUTE MEN OF FOOTBALL...

J. W. HEISMAN

By PAUL PURMAN.
Regardless of the outcome of the football season in the east and west
—regardless of the imposing records hung up by Pittsburgh, Notre Dame or Ohio State, it's going to be pretty hard for any of them to make any claims on the national championship on account of a stumbling block labelled Georgia Tech placed in the football path by J. W. Heisman.

For two years Heisman has won the southern intercollegiate championship and, if an 8 to 0 victory over Vanderbilt is any indication, he is in a fair way to win it again.
One may even go further this year and place Heisman's team right near the pinnacle of American football.

Heisman is one of the originators of open play. Long before the forward pass rule came into being Heisman was drilling his teams in open formations and his teams were playing football that other teams could not fathom.

Now in the day of the forward pass
Heisman is again outguessing them with a shift, somewhat resembling the Minnesota shift, which Heisman originated in 1910.

Those who have seen the Tech shift declare it is superior to the Minnesota shift in that all points of the opposing line are assaulted with equal strength. Heisman has also been able to develop great end running on his teams by a unique method of throwing a great mass of interference in front of the runner, seven men always being swung into end attacks.

Heisman was born in Cleveland, O.,
Oct. 23, 1869. He attended high school at Titusville, Pa., and played football on the high school team. He went to Brown in 1887 and made the freshman team and the next year played guard on the varsity. In 1889 Heisman went to Pennsylvania to study law, played center there that year, tackle in 1890 and end in 1891.

His coaching began at Oberlin college in 1892 and in his three years here he gave Oberlin a team which that college never equalled, having defeated Michigan, Chicago and Illinois.

In 1895 Heisman invaded the south and put Alabama Poly on the map.
He remained there until 1900, when he was secured to coach the Clemson college (S. C.) team, where he first introduced open play, and brought the unknown college to such an enviable place in southern football that in 1904 he was signed by Georgia Tech, where for 14 years he has always been in the running in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic association.

Heisman's success has caused uninformed critics in the north to intimate that scholarship and other collegiate requirements have not been observed and that Heisman has a picked team brought from all parts of the country.

The fact of the matter is that there are few schools in the country where the faculties are more strict than that at Georgia Tech. Heisman is really handicapped by the strict requirements.

Also it may be said that on his regular 1917 eleven, only one man, Guyon, is not a native Georgian, and Guyon has been living in Atlanta for two years, and could not play on the team last year on account of the freshman rule.

This may be Heisman's last year at Tech. His five-year contract expires
Dec. 31, and it is understood his services are being eagerly sought by several colleges in the east, while the Georgia school is again offering him another five-year contract.

BISMARCK CLOSES WONDERFUL SEASON BY ADMINISTERING A THIRD DEFEAT TO MANDANESE

The Bismarck high closed a glorious season Saturday by handing a 21 to 0 defeat to the North Dakota training school at Mandan. No other games are scheduled, and from this time on athletic interest in Capital City schools centers on basketball, whose schedule will begin about holiday season.

At home the Bismarck high trimmed Mandan, 18 to 6, and the state training school, 58 to 0, and again 13 to 0.
At Mandan, Bismarck defeated the Mandan high 21 to 0 and the training school 21 to 0. In the five games Bismarck made 131 points to its opponents' bare 6.

Bert Cook, Conrad Yegen and Hugh Spangler, stars in this season's lineup, played their last game Saturday.
They are seniors who will finish next spring. The prospects for next year are excellent, however, with McCoy, who broke his knee early this year and has devoted his time to coaching

the second team, back into the game and such interesting youngsters as John McGowan, Robert George and John W. Larson available from the freshman bunch.

Bismarck lined up Saturday: For-erty, 1c; William Yegen, 1c; Kenneth Allen, 1c; Herndon Taylor, c; Eugene
Kilmer, rt; Hugh Spangler, 1c; Bert
Cook, 1c; Guy Grove, 1c; Rex Berndt, q; Lloyd Couch, rh.

Thram was substituted for Grove in the last 30 seconds of play. Oscar Lovin and Conrad Yegen were carried as spares, but there was no occasion to use them. The line played its usual stellar game, proving a bulwark
The training school once held Bismarck down on its yard-line, but lost the ball for a safety on an attempt to carry the ball instead of punting.
Kid Ryan featured the training school crew. Couch's end run for a touchdown and Cook's cross-cross were outstanding plays for Bismarck.

SOLDIERS PRINT OWN NEWS

Pershing's Men Have Their Own Press Humming Away on the French Front.

Paris—The rumble of the press is added to the various noises surrounding the American army headquarters in Paris. Soldiers' printing matter is printed on the premises. Soldiers, who in civil life used to know the printing shop, are printing pamphlets and other army literature for the fighters. A fully equipped printing office with a flat bed press is doing the work. The first type "set up" told Pershing's men in training how to throw bombs and how to handle them without accident. Army orders and the "latest" front game will follow.

Mr. Crull climbs a stepladder and feeds the mother bird, now taking care of her brood of young birds. He gathers worms and the robin eats them from his hand. She does not appear to have any fear of him.

PRESIDENT EXPLAINS THE DRAFT

Executive Formally Puts Machinery of Draft Scheme Into Execution.

9,000,000 REGISTRANTS TO PASS IN REVIEW

Routine Completed in 60 Days—
Call for New Army in February, 1918.

New York, N. Y., November 12.—President Wilson formally put the new machinery for carrying out the selective draft bill into operation Saturday with the publication of the foreword he has written to the regulations under which the second call will be made. The regulations themselves and the questionnaires, which more than 9,000,000 registrants will be required to fill out, are being framed to local, but have not yet been made public.

War department officials estimate that the whole process will be completed within 60 days. This means that no second call will be made upon the draft forces before the middle of next February as the period of classification will not begin until Dec. 15. The president describes the new plan of dividing all registered men not already mobilized, into five classes, subject to military service by classes, as being intended to produce "a more perfect organization of our man power."

The president's foreword follows: "The task of selecting and mobilizing the first contingent of the national army is nearing completion. The expedition and accuracy of its accomplishment were a most gratifying demonstration of the efficiency of our democratic institutions. The swift action with which the machinery for its execution had to be assembled, however, left room for adjustment and improvement. New regulations put these improvements into effect, and, therefore, being published today. There is no change in the essential obligation of men subject to selection. The first draft must stand unaffected by the provisions of the new regulations. They can be given no retroactive effect."

Inventory of Man Power.
"The time has come for a more perfect organization of our man power. The selective principle must be carried to its logical conclusion. We must make a complete inventory of the qualifications of all registrants in order to determine as to each man not already selected for duty with the colors, the place in the military, industrial or agricultural ranks of the nation in which his experience and training can best be made to serve the common good. This project involves an inquiry by the selection boards into the domestic, industrial and educational qualifications of nearly 10,000,000 men."

Duties Yet Unperformed.
"Members of these boards have rendered a conspicuous service. The work was done without regard to personal convenience and under a pressure of immediate necessity which imposed great sacrifices. Yet the services of men trained by the experience of the first draft must of necessity be retained and the selection boards must provide the direct mechanism for the new classification. The thing they have done is of scarcely one-tenth the magnitude of the thing that remains to be done. It is of great importance, both to our military and to our economic interests that the classification be carried swiftly and surely to a conclusion. An estimate of the time necessary for the work leads to the conclusion that it can be accomplished in 60 days, but only if this great marshalling of our resources of men is regarded by all as a national war undertaking of such significance as to challenge the attention and compel the assistance of every American."

All Must Assist.
"I call upon all citizens, therefore, to assist local and district boards by proferring such service and such material conveniences as they can offer and by appearing before the boards, either upon summons or upon their own initiative, to give such information as will be useful in classifying registrants. I urge men of the legal profession to offer themselves as associate members of the legal advisory boards to be provided in each community for the purpose of advising registrants of their rights and obligations and of assisting them in the preparation of their answers to the questionnaires which all men subject to the draft are required to submit. I ask the doctors of the country to identify themselves with the medical advisory boards which are to be constituted in the various districts throughout the United States for the purpose of making a systematic physical examination of the registrants."

Aid of Peace Officers.
It is important also that police officials of every grade and class should be informed of their duty under the selective service law and regulations."

POTATOES WASTED—A WHOLE MOUNTAIN OF 'EM!

There were enough potatoes in the Chicago "food dump" when the above photograph was taken to have fed scores of families all winter—had the spuds not been allowed to freeze in freight cars and rot in warehouses while potato dealers were "regulating" the market in the interest of higher prices. In this potato mountain were several hundred bushels, and they represent but a small part of the potatoes allowed to rot and freeze by our wasteful marketing and transportation methods, says Harry A. Wheeler, Chicago food administrator. Wheeler will try to reclaim from the many Chicago food dumps such foods as are entirely spoiled and portions of which may be used.

COMPENSATION FOR SOLDIERS' FAMILIES UNDER NEW STATUTE EXPLAINED TO SNELLING MEN

Fort Snelling, Minn., Nov. 12.—Soldiers at Fort Snelling are hearing explanations of the operation of the new law governing war risk insurance, which officers here are anxious to see every draftee carry as a protection to his family and relatives.

Compensation under the new law is payable for death or total disability resulting from personal injury in the line of duty. It is paid by the government without contribution from the person protected.

In case of death, the compensation to the family of a draftee is limited to the widow, children, or dependent widow mother of the deceased.

The monthly sum payable in each case are stated and are not based upon the pay of the deceased.

(a) For a widow alone, $25.
(b) For a widow and one child, $35.
(c) For a widow and two children $45; with $5 for each additional child up to two.

(d) If there be no widow, then for one child, $20.
(e) For two children, $30.
(f) For three children, $40 with $5 for each additional child up to two.

(g) For widowed mother, $20. The amount payable under this subdivision shall not be greater than a sum, which when added to the total amount payable to the widow and children, does not exceed $75.

Compensation to a widow or widowed mother shall continue until death or remarriage. Compensation to a child shall cease at the age of 18, or at marriage, unless the child is incompetent. The government also provides for the burial, expenses not to exceed $100.

During the continuance of total disability, monthly compensation shall be paid to the injured person. The amounts are not based on pay, but are as follows:

(a) If he has neither wife nor children living, $30.
(b) If he has a wife but no children living, $45.
(c) If he has a wife and one child living, $55.
(d) If he has a wife and two children living, $65.
(e) If he has a wife and three or more children living, $75; $10 for each additional child up to two.
(f) If he has no wife but one child living, $40; with $10 additional up to two.
(g) If he has a widowed mother dependent upon him for support, then in addition to the above amounts, $10.

To an injured person who is totally disabled and in addition is so helpless as to be in constant need of a nurse or attendant such an additional sum shall be paid but not exceeding $20

REOPENING OF OLD BLACK HILLS ROAD BECOMES CERTAIN

Enthusiastic Meeting of International Highway Boosters Held in Bismarck.

Enthusiasm for the reopening of the northwest's far-famed and most romantic highway—the Old Black Hills trail—marked the first annual meeting of the Devils Lake, Bismarck, Black Hills Trail association, held at the Bismarck Commercial club Saturday afternoon. All of the important towns on route were represented and much confidence was expressed in the future of the international highway which ultimately is to link Winnipeg with Denver.

The Black Hills trail leaves the tape with an advantage in that it is a post road throughout its entire length, assuring federal aid, guaranteed only to post roads under the Shackleford bill. The committee which is to finally locate the route, named yesterday, is headed by State Engineer Jay W. Bliss of Bismarck, whose helpers are A. H. Neider, New Leipzig; F. J. Simon, New Leipzig; Charles Beaton, Lemmon; Dr. E. Mackey, Mandan; Fred A. Copell, Bismarck; W. A. Hart, Carson, and George N. Keniston, secretary of the Bismarck Commercial club.

A committee on nominations was named by the chairman, as follows: C. E. Blair, Lemmon; O. W. Roberts, Bismarck; W. W. Miller, Mandan, and D. Frash, New Leipzig.

Shields Man Shoots Wife And Himself

Insane Jealousy of Young Helpmeet Results in Double Tragedy in Grant County.

RALEIGH FOR CRIME

Flasher, N. D., Nov. 12.—After striving without success to buy a revolver at Shields for his alleged, the avowed purpose of killing his young wife, of whom he is said to have been insanely and unreasonably jealous, Dinsdale Myers, a well-known character of the Shields vicinity, proceeded to Raleigh, purchased a 32-caliber gun, then turned the weapon upon himself, sending a bullet into his brain.

The double tragedy was promptly reported by neighbors. Dr. W. R. Shortridge was summoned from Flasher, and the victim was removed to his private hospital, where it was found that Mrs. Myers' wound was comparatively harmless, the bullet having entered her right cheek and lodged behind her right eye, not touching the brain. Myers, however, carried the ball in his brain, and he has remained unconscious, with symptoms of cerebral hemorrhage and the probability that apoplexy will set in. Dr. W. R. Shortridge, just returned from a conference of war surgeons at Chicago, reports that evidence submitted there was to the effect that if a brain wound does not cause immediate death the victim has a chance to recover, but Myers' condition late tonight was anything but favorable.

An Unhappy Union.
Myers is 24 and his wife 21. They union has not been a happy one, and Myers, who spent much of his time at Shields, is alleged to have talked freely of his wife's troubles. Friday he spent the day in Shields, talking of his plans to end everything, and finally sought out a hardware store and demanded a gun. Knowing the man he was dealing with, the merchant refused to sell him a revolver. But at Raleigh, the would-be murderer was more successful. Before attempting the double murder, Myers wrote letters to his mother and intimate friends, which presumably give the reasons for his crimes. These letters are sealed and will be turned over to the Grant county authorities, who have been notified. The couple have an eighteen-month-old son who is at the hospital here with his mother. Myers probably will be moved Monday to Bismarck for an x-ray examination, should he survive over Sunday.

KASHIO NOT JAPAN'S BEST

Not a Representative Player of Japan Admits It.

Setschiro Kashio, the Japanese player who took a part in the recent singles tournament at Forest Hills, L. I., is not a representative player of Japan, and frankly admits it.

He is a youngster, to begin with, and his experience in tournament tennis has been limited. He takes his toga off to Kumagae, his countryman, who made such a great showing here in 1910, and says that he wants experience in big tournaments so that he may some day play the kind of a game for which Kumagae is famous.

The turf courts of the East and the asphalt courts which are prevalent on the Pacific Coast got Kashio's goat. Another thing that bothered him was the fact that the ball used in this country has a hard, firm surface, while in Japan a softer ball is used by the players, and clay courts are the only kind built.

Kashio's playing interested the spectators at Forest Hills because of the tanning he showed. He is of very slight build, and doesn't look capable of standing the pace set by some of the strong-limbed young Americans whom he met, but he quits the courts after a hard match in much better shape than his opponents, for he is a typical Japanese athlete and keeps in shape all the time.

Develops Rube Schauer.
Connie Mack seems to have developed Rube Schauer, the former Giant, into a pretty fair pitcher.

Joins Aviation Corps.
Al Mauney, the Pirate black sheep, has decided to join the aviation corps.

Remember Your Soul.
Never, admonishes Marcus Aurelius, must you forget that you have a soul; never must you miss a single hour in which it might render the slightest services to humanity.

LEWIS RESIGNS PLACE ON STATE CONTROL BOARD

Man who has Served State in Important Capacity Five Years Retires from Job.

REOPENS AGAIN NAMING OF FRAZIER APPOINTEE

R. S. Lewis of Fargo, for nearly five years chairman of the state board of control, Saturday afternoon tendered Governor Frazier his resignation to become effective December 1.

Lewis was first named chairman of the board under two years' appointment from Governor Hanna during the latter's first administration. When the board was reorganized under a new law in 1915, Lewis was named by Hanna for the six-year term. The present administration during the last legislative session held this new appointment illegal, and contended that Lewis' term expired at the end of the original two years' appointment, July 1, 1917.

After the senate had remained deadlocked throughout the session on the question of confirming Berndt Anderson of Churchill Ferry as Lewis' successor, Chairman Lewis appeared before the upper house on the closing night and declared that rather than involve the state in more turmoil, he would resign, effective July 1, and asked the senate to confirm the governor's nomination, which was done.

When July 1 came, Berndt Anderson, declaring he could only subscribe fully to the program laid down by Governor Frazier, declined to hold office. Chairman Lewis remained at the helm largely because at that time the state hospital was under fire. The attack has blown over, and Chairman Lewis on Saturday carried out his original intention by again resigning. There is no inkling as to the probable identity of his successor.

DOCTOR EASTMAN'S MISSION TO SIOUX

Famous Indian Author and Lecturer Enlists in Sioux of War Campaign.

Dr. Charles Eastman of Amherst, Mass., the famous Indian scholar and author, arrived here Saturday and will remain until Tuesday for conferences with the leaders of the Sioux of the Standing Rock agency, who have been summoned to meet him here. He is registered at the McKenzies.

Dr. Eastman's mission is not official except in an incidental way. He has responded to an invitation from the council of defense to visit the agencies throughout the west and present the cause of the liberty bond to the Indians. His first visit on the west was made at the Winnebago agency in Nebraska, near Sioux City. Here he found that 100 young men of a total male population of 1,200, despite the fact that Indians are not registered under the draft, had enlisted as volunteers and are now in training camp. He found the sentiment among the Winnebago enthusiastic in helping out the government in a financial way. When the doctor took his leave of the Winnebagoes they had invested in bonds to the extent of $65,000, which was 85 per cent of all of the ready money on the reservation.

Dr. Eastman's work for the immediate present will be among the Sioux, he himself being a native of the tribe. "He expects even better results among them. His mission will end as soon as congress reconvenes at Washington."

The Bryant Tailoring Co., Grand Pacific Block, have secured the services of an expert tailor who will give his immediate attention to all pressing, dry cleaning and repairing. 11-6-17
